Summary

The rise of technology and the internet has brought a significant change in the way we engage with various forms of entertainment. One of the areas that have seen substantial growth in recent years is online gambling. To tackle the problem of gambling addiction, Mending Minds has created an awareness platform that aims at educating people about the risks of Online Gambling by providing the people a comprehensive list of resources pertaining to online gambling addiction while also providing them with a way to communicate with others and form a sense of community.
